Case of Citizens' Bank of Union City. Ind .- Matters in the Local Courts.

A sharp rebuke to careless bank directors was administered yesterday by the Indiana Supreme Court through Justice Dowling in the case of the late Citizens' Bank of Union | bank for payment of stock the latter can-City against its directors. In addition to not lawfully enter into a contract that administering the "scoring" the higher court affirmed a judgment of $50,000 recovered by the receiver of the bank from the directors. The board of directors was charged with acts of neglect numbering 119, among which were: Allowing the bank to take several thousand dollars' worth of to whose business'it succeeded; taking a ruling large amount of real estate at excessive valuation; allowing overdrafts that were never settled; permitting the president and cashier to squander the bank's funds and to appropriate $25,000 each to their own use. "Under the statutes of this State the directors of a bank are the agents of the corporation, having the general custody, control and management of its property and affairs, and, as such agents, they are liable to account for all of the property of the corporation which has been intrusted to their control and management. For mere errors of judgment they are not responsible, but for losses and waste of money and property, occurring through their gross inattention to the busines of the bank, or their willful violation of their duties they are liable. * * "It should be plainly understood by gentlemen occupying the position of directors figures, but that they have actual and responsible duties to perform, and that by FOR RENT-Front and back parlor down stairs; in the waste or loss of the capital of the bank, they render themselves liable to the corporation. A primary duty is that they should understand the financial condition of the bank. They owe this duty to the shareholders, the depositors and other creditors, and to the public.

"Ignorance of the important transactions of the corporation, and of the general state of its affairs, unless excusable for some special reason which it is incumbent on them to establish, constitutes no defense to an action for damages for losses occasioned by or traceable to their failure to perform their official duties."

At the general offices of the Chicago & Southeastern Railway at Muncie proposed changes are announced in the management of the road as follows: General Manager C. M. Ward will go to the Union Pacific as livision superintendent, S. R. Kramer, formerly trainmaster of the Lake Erie at Lima, O., has been appointed superintendent of road and mechanical departments, Traffic Manager Adolph Stevens will be treasurer, while Vice President Henry Crawford, jr., will assume some of the obligations of Mr. Ward's office. The Boone County & Booneville Railroad, which the stockholders of the Wabash voted to purchase, is now operated on a lease by the Wabash, but the lease will soon expire, and it was thought advisable to purchase it. The Omaha & St. Louis road, another line acquired, was formerly part of the Wabash system. When the road went into the hands of a receiver in 1886 the receiver disposed of it, and when the Wabash Company was reorganized, in 1889, the new company did not reacquire it The acquisition of the latter gives the Wabash the short line from St. Louis to Coun-Freight Officials John S. Lazarus, of the ndiana, Decatur & Western, and Ford Woods, of the Peoria & Eastern, are in Chicago attending a meeting to readjust rates to conform from short points in Central Traffic Association territory to the advance in through grain rates, which becomes effective Oct. 21, which advance will make the rates on grain from Indianapolis to New York 1614 cents, Philadelphia 1414, Baltimore and Newport News 1314 and Boston 181/2. This adjustment is on the basis of 171/2 cents per one hundred pounds Chicago to New York, an advance of 21/2 cents on present rates. C. H. Walton, who some months ago, owing to ill health, asked for an indefinite leave of absence, has recovered his health and been appointed general agent of the Pennsylvania Company at Fort Wayne; C S. Sims has been appointed superintendent of terminals of the company at Chicago, the position formerly held by Mr. Walton, and N. Neff, engineer of maintenance of way on the Indianapolis division of the Panhandle, goes to Chicago, succeeding Mr. Sims as engineer of maintenance of way. Mr. Neff is succeeded on the Indianapolis division of the Panhanhle by D. B.

Recompensed. Under the spreading bleacher's shade

The brawny half back stands, A leathern harness on his head, And blisters on his hands. The lungs within his steel-ribbed chest Can holler like twelve bands.

Week in, week out, from morn till night, He bolts his Profs to go And punt the rigekin through the mud And hear the trainers blow They fall on him when he's too swift And kill him when he's slow. His hair is but a muddy mop:

He feeds on catmesi-uncooked chop, He hones-no matter how. Yet in this life bath he reward Exceeding great, I trow. High on the club drag's topmost seat A winsome figure stands;

A war map is his brow;

She shubs the other men, and yet His praise from all demands, She screams his college yell, and thrusts Her roses in his hands. -Katherine Brown, in Truth. A dime buys Jap Rose.
